

Teaching about communication

■ Release Communication Intervention, the not-for-profit social enterprise which says it teaches parents and children the practical skills and techniques they need to overcome communications difficulties, has announced the opening of a new school in Rathfarnham.

For further information log onto www.release.ie.